

Ian Bland

The poet, Ian Bland visited school this week and worked with classes from Year 1 to Year 6 (at a social distance). During each workshop, he shared some of his own performance poetry as well as teaching the children how to write poetry of their own. Each class was given the opportunity to write a poem and these were on a variety of structures and themes including phantoms, dinner ladies and puzzles.

Year 6 have been unleashing their inner artists and produced some amazing pieces of batik. Batik is using wax and dyes to produce artwork on fabric. The children evaluated existing pieces of batik, designed their own artwork, based on our science topic about animals and habitats, and then made them. Finally, the children identified what they liked about their work and the skills they had learnt. I am sure you will agree that they are fabulous. Well done, 6M!
